Black History Month

February is a month of reflection, resilience, and forward momentum. As we celebrate Black History Month, we honor the enduring contributions, innovation, and strength of Black entrepreneurs and communities. At C Three Business Consultants, a 100% minority woman-owned firm headquartered in St. Louis, we're proud to support minority business owners nationwide in building secure, efficient, and profitable operations.

This month also brings Safer Internet Day on February 10, a global reminder to protect our digital connections—the "heart" of modern business. Just as strong communities thrive through trust and resilience, secure technology safeguards your growth and relationships. Here's how we can help you make meaningful connections this February.

Penetration & Vulnerability Testing – Building a Safer Digital Foundation.

In today's connected world, one weak link can expose your entire operation. Penetration testing and vulnerability assessments simulate real-world attacks to uncover hidden risks before cybercriminals do—preventing costly breaches that damage trust, finances, and reputation.

Quick tips to protect your business "heart" this Safer Internet Day:

- Enable multi-factor authentication everywhere possible.
- Schedule regular vulnerability scans (we can help!).
- Train your team on phishing awareness.

With over 25 years of IT expertise, C Three delivers cost-effective cybersecurity assessments and managed solutions that keep your data safe and your business running smoothly. Let's secure your foundation.

Certification and Government Contracting for Resilient Growth.

Black History Month reminds us that progress comes from overcoming barriers and seizing opportunities. As WBE/MBE/DBE Certification Specialists, we guide women and minority-owned businesses through the certification process to unlock government contracts, set-asides, funding, and partnerships that drive sustainable growth.

Our services include:

- Eligibility reviews and application support for WBE, MBE, DBE certifications.
- SAM.gov registration and compliance assistance.
- Proposal writing, bid preparation, and contract management consulting.

These steps help "secure" your business future by expanding revenue streams and reducing barriers—mirroring the resilience celebrated this month. Whether you're just starting or scaling up, our fractional project management and business development expertise can accelerate your success. Ready to open new doors? Schedule a free consultation this February and take the first step toward government contracting opportunities.
